

Health and Wellness "Making Fitness Fit – Into Your Life Schedule"

Mary Kay Rudolph is SRJC's Vice President of Academic Affairs and Assistant Superintendent. Her work requires attending numerous meetings daily, preparing reports, researching policy, serving as the SRJC Accreditation Liaison Officer and as a member of the District Negotiation Team (with AFA). Her tasks continue at home with reading materials and taking care of e-mail messages.

But her work doesn't stop when she closes the door to her office at the end of the day. She also has responsibility of family – husband and son. Oh, but she also is a student. She is enrolled in the Body Conditioning class that meets every Monday and Wednesday from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m.

So, how does all of this fit into her life? It starts with the motivation for her to attend the body conditioning class. She said that stress makes her job more difficult. "For me, it feels good. For my job, I think more clearly. For my family, I'm nicer when I get home."

How does she make it possible to get to the class at 5:30 p.m.? "I put it on my schedule as if it were a meeting, etc. I have to do it."

She finished class at 7:00 p.m. What is happening at home? "My husband and son make dinner. It's like a reward for doing exercise. Her family incorporates exercise in their activities - hiking, rollerblading, and, whenever possible, walking to the store or the theatre."

Mary Kay recommends to SRJC staff who are looking to lead a healthy lifestyle to "find an activity that would be convenient and you can do - set it for success. And find a buddy to do it with."

17th Annual Expanding Your Horizons Conference March 14 Volunteers Needed!

The 17th Expanding Your Horizons Conference will be held at SRJC on the Santa Rosa Campus on Saturday, March 14. The conference is geared to young women in 7th and 8th grade and their parents to increase awareness of the importance of quality math and science preparation. Participants will be introduced to math, engineering, and science through hands-on workshops conducted by women in each field. Sessions will also be available for parents and educators. It is anticipated that 400 students from Sonoma, Lake, and Mendocino counties will participate in Expanding Horizons. Conference registration is from 8:30 to 9:00 AM, followed by three sessions, lunch, and a closing session. You may e-mail Julie Silk at jsilk@eyh-soco.org or call 577-4296.

Volunteers Needed! Adult volunteers are needed to help on the day of the conference on March 14 between 8:30 AM and 2:00 PM. Volunteer duties range from helping the girls find their workshop location and assisting workshop leaders to helping with conference check-in and set up lunch, among other activities. If you can work the day, lunch is included for you, too! If you can only spend an hour or two, that's also appreciated! Please reply ASAP if you are interested in volunteering to Pam Soekland at (707) 321-1926.

Nominations Sought for Outstanding Faculty Member Due March 16

The SRJC Alumni & Friends Association seeks nominations to honor an outstanding SRJC faculty member. Faculty, staff, students, and alumni may nominate candidates. The award will be presented at the Faculty Recognition Awards Celebration held each spring. Please complete and return the nomination form no later than 5:00 p.m. on Monday, March 16. The recipient will be selected based on the following criteria: excellence in teaching; sensitivity to student needs; development of innovative teaching materials or techniques; service to college and/or wider community.

A one-time student scholarship will be made in the Outstanding Faculty member's name. FFAS Grants Available – Apply by April 13

If you'd like to attend a conference, participate in a training, or pursue a special project that would help increase your effectiveness in the classroom or broaden your knowledge in your field, but no funds are available in your department or cluster, the Faculty Fund for Advanced Studies (FFAS) may be a perfect way to fund these activities.

FFAS is an independent, faculty-run fund established from the generous donations of faculty, administrators, the Foundation, and friends. Each spring semester FFAS helps support a number of worthy projects - particularly those not covered by existing programs. Grants may also be used to supplement other conventional college funding sources.

Grant applications were sent to all SRJC faculty members on Monday, March 16 via an e-mail attachment. To apply for a FFAS grant you must be a full-time SRJC faculty member for at least two years. FFAS is looking particularly for applicants who have not previously received a grant from FFAS. All applications must be returned to Andrea Proehl, FFAS Chair, in the Doyle Library by Monday, April 13 at 5:00 PM. If you can't access the application, e-mail Andrea at aproehl@santarosa.edu or call her at ext. 4909.

Grants Presented at Soup Fest April 29! Grants will be presented at a cool party, the annual Soup Fest, which is a free "thank you" celebration of delicious soup, French bread, cheese, and wine, plus music and good company. This year's Soup Fest is scheduled on Wednesday, April 29 at Safari West. More details to come!

Transfer Center & Teacher Academy Offer March 23 Seminar

On Monday, March 23 from 5:00 to 7:00 PM, SRJC's Teacher Academy and Transfer Center will offer a seminar to students who are interested in teaching at any level from kindergarten through university. Presentations will include an overview of the process of becoming a teacher, information about teacher preparation programs, and a glimpse into the experience of being in a K-12 classroom. University representatives and local K-12 teachers will be available to talk with students one-on-one about their plans to pursue teaching careers. A flyer containing more information is available at <https://www2.santarosa.edu/file-depot/download.php?action=dl&id=7206>.

Classified Staff Recognition and Awards Dinner March 30

Employee of the Month Christine Nora March 2009

Congratulations to Christine Nora, Executive Assistant to the Vice President for Administrative Services, for being nominated the Santa Rosa Junior College Employee of the Month for March 2009. Christine was introduced by her supervisor Dr. Curt Groninga, Vice President Administrative Services/Assistant Superintendent, at the March 10, 2009, Board of Trustees meeting. She was presented with an EOM plaque, season tickets to SRT performances, gift vouchers from the Culinary Café, and other gifts of appreciation. "Christine works with many SRJC staff, college consultants, and community members and consistently represents the best of Santa Rosa Junior College. Quietly diligent, Christine has always provided added value to the Administrative Services mission and purpose. We are all fortunate to have the opportunity to work with her," Curt says.

In her position, Christine's key tasks including coordinating numerous complex activities involving legal contracts, property acquisitions, meetings, conferences, committees, and many special projects, such as archiving documents for the College and ensuring that all facets of the high visibility component area runs efficiently. Her role is instrumental to major projects, such as helping assemble SRJC's Annual Five-Year Capital Outlay Plan, preparing the seemingly endless number of Administrative Service Board Agenda Items, and providing key administrative support to the Institutional Planning Council (IPC) and the Board Facilities Committee (BFC).

Many comment on a unique quality that makes Christine outstanding in her role: her ability to remain calm, focused, and effective in the face of challenges. "Amidst the frequently frenetic pace of the Administrative Services office, a serene presence is found in Christine who performs her key responsibilities with professional efficiency," emphasizes Curt. Maria Gaitan, Executive Assistant to the Superintendent/President, adds, "Christine and I work closely on various tasks that are often very time sensitive. She always amazes me with her ability to stay calm, when clearly, there is turbulence around her. I appreciate her easy-going style and I value her as a friend and colleague." When streams of architects, engineers, construction managers, and contractors who are immersed in college construction projects drop by Administrative Services to resolve project issues, Christine's calming influence is invaluable. Once when Curt asked Christine if she'd "ever been accused of being too noisy," she softly responded, "No, but my mother did accuse me of being too bossy! Well, I guess that part of me went underground. I may be quiet, but I'm always thinking!"

Christine joined SRJC's staff in 1998 as the Administrative Assistant III for Administrative Services. She started the position out with a bang when she was assigned to help submit critical funding documents and plans for several major SRJC projects, including the Doyle Library and Petaluma Phase II. After several years in her position, Christine was promoted to her current position as Executive Assistant. When asked what she attributes to her success at SRJC, she responds, "I love my job and the department I work for. Everyday I am challenged to learn more about the College and my function in it. I respect and admire my boss and the other people who work with me. That kind of support has helped me to succeed in my duties." She identifies her greatest accomplishment at SRJC as: "I have always had the desire to teach, and through Community Education I have had an opportunity to teach a class at SRJC in Children's Book Writing and Illustrating. This indirectly relates to my position as an Executive Assistant because in that role I gained so much confidence that I parlayed that into achieving a personal goal."

What she likes most about her job, "Having a small role in building the Doyle Library and other new buildings that have been built since I began working at SRJC. I have experienced a renaissance of building at this College that will extend far into the future." What may surprise others most about Christine: "I'm an author and artist and I teach a Community Education class in my spare time." To her friends and coworkers, Christine's gracious attitude and sense of humor - no matter how heavy the workload is - are invaluable: "Christine is a great balancer. She is good with boundaries, but always with kindness," says Bill Shelley, Petaluma Campus Library Technician. "She's got a fantastic work ethic, but she values taking a deep breath and taking time to be a friend."

Born in Long Beach, California, Christina graduated from Long Beach Polytechnic High School and attended Long Beach City College, Santa Rosa Junior College, and Cal State University, Long Beach where she earned a bachelor's degree in creative writing. Before working at SRJC Christine was employed at Scott Paper Company and Sony Corporation. Christina was drawn to Sonoma County in 1996 because "I've always loved Northern California and had an opportunity to relocate from Southern California." Outside of work Christine enjoys trips to Yosemite, Greece, and Italy to paint watercolors, being a part of the local art community, participating in writing consortia, hiking in the woods and coastal areas, and cooking and serving unique dishes to unsuspecting friends. She especially enjoys visiting her daughter, Marissa Allen, a SRJC graduate who teaches high school speech and drama in Santa Fe, New Mexico. "In the land of Giants, Christine quietly shares her support of the Dodgers with me, as her own father was part of the Dodger organization during the days of Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella," Curt adds.

When told she was the nominee for Employee of the Month, Christine responded, "I was truly surprised because I simply perform my duties to the best of my ability and love doing it. To be awarded on top of that is wonderfully surprising!" Congratulations, Christine.

PRPP Trainings

Two trainings for PRPP are scheduled on both campuses in March. The trainings are offered to show navigation, answer questions, and provide updated information on the newer system. It is recommended that instructional deans, department chairs, and administrative support attend a training to see how the new and improved system works.

Day Under the Oaks Sign Up By March 31

All SRJC programs and clubs planning to participate at Day Under the Oaks on Sunday, May 3 should sign up on the DUO Web site before March 31 at http://www.santarosa.edu/about_srjc/day-under-the-oaks/.

When you beat the deadline you get a beautiful free DUO t-shirt, which is designed with the vibrant colors of maroon, oranges, and golds displayed on the DUO Web site.

Sign Up Now! - Be sure when you sign up on the DUO Web site to fill out the correct form. If you are selling anything, you are considered a "Concession." If you are not selling, you are considered an "Informational" participant. Remember, not sign-ups will be accepted after the March 31 signup deadline.

T-shirts & Buttons - Each participating department or club will receive four free Day Under the Oaks t-shirts for individuals who staff the booth or display. Supplies of the t-shirts are limited, so by signing up before March 31 your t-shirt will be reserved. PR will notify you in April when t-shirts are ready to be picked up in Public Relations. Buttons that match the t-shirts will also be available to everyone who helps make DUO a success.

Change Request Forms - When you sign up online, you will see that we have added a new "Change Request Form" that allows you to modify any part of your previously submitted sign up information. For example, if you forgot to request an extension cord, simply use the "Change Request Form" to add it.

Do not submit another request! This will be quick and easy for you and will also make our planning and set up process more accurate and timely.

Volunteers - If you can help by staffing one of our Information booths for two hours on the day of the event, please sign up using the "Volunteer Form" on the Web site and select the shift that works best for you. All Information Booth volunteers receive a free DUO t-shirt! You can expect also to hear from Sherrie Arendt who coordinates the Information Booths.

Event Maps - Where You Will Be Assigned - Shortly after the March 31 sign up deadline, PR will produce a new event map that indicates where all activities and booths will be located. The space assignments will be included in the tabloid program that Public Relations produces to hand out at Day Under the Oak. Refer to the DUO Web site in the second week in April to find out where your booth/display is located.

Don't miss Day Under the Oaks, it is truly a fabulous opportunity to show the community what your department or club offers and what a beautiful and welcoming college SRJC is. Your participation is what helps makes Day Under the Oaks the finest Open House and Community Education events anywhere!
